The Jackson Lenawee Washtenaw Cooperative Invasive Species Management Area (JLW CISMA) is a grant funded organization that works to address invasive species related needs in the Jackson, Lenawee and Washtenaw County region. Our steering committee is comprised of a member from each of the local Conservation Districts and local partners to ensure a strategic and unified approach in surveying and managing invasive species and performing community outreach. In addition to invasive species, this year the 2023 calendar also includes native species found in the area. Funds raised from these sales will directly support our efforts to perform early detection and rapid response when new species are found and provide quality educational programming for both youth and adults!
